Department of Botany, SNVMV organised a one day Workshop on ‘Research Scope on Hydroponics’, 22-12-2022 for 35 P.G Botany students. Dr.T.Sudha Rani, Associate Professor, Dept.of Botany was the resource person for the above workshop.

Hydroponics is a technology substituting soil for cultivation or to grow plants. Different plants need different nutrients in different concentrations to make a standard nutrients protocol, we need to experiment with various concentrations of micro and macro nutrient requirement of different plants at various growth phases. To improve the yield in terms of growth and fruiting we have to see the specific requirements of the plants while we are growing through Hydroponics. Workshop helped the students to go for research in Hydroponics to develop it as a viable technology as a substitute to conventional cultivation.
